

25. It's taken a long time to get here....

I think, this time, just the video!!

Another time for pictures of me as Father Christmas; of the day that Ed and I spent in dismantling the body from the chassis in order to put the steering column in according to the manual – and reassembling and realising it didn't work; of my numerous phone calls to identify whether a detachable steering wheel is both legal and qualifies as an immobilisation device.....

Just enjoy our moment ☺
